Announcement

It is with some regret that we have decided to announce in this issue the discontinuance of the Coin Bulletin. We have been interested in publishing it and feel that its readers have enjoyed and profited from reading it, but with the growth of other departments of our business it is no longer possible to give the preparation of material for the Bulletin the attention it merits.

We are also erecting our own building in New York, a picture of which is here shown. We will occupy over 5,000 square feet of floor space, our vault in the basement will alone require space 15 feet square and 10 feet high. The building is constructed throughout with steel and concrete, there being no wood whatever used. Everything is modern and up to date.

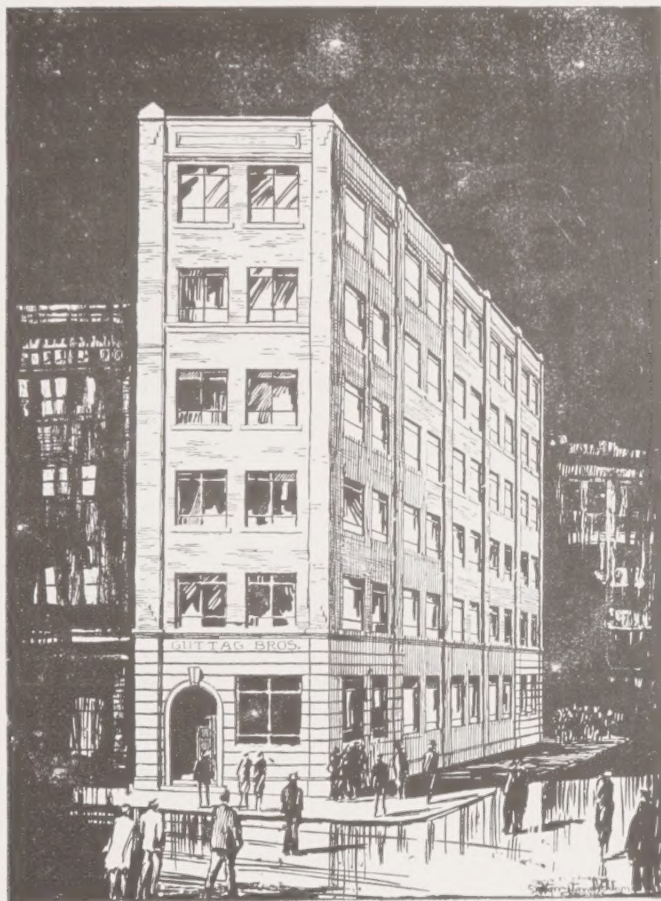

The reorganization in our office necessitated by our early removal to the new quarters will require the suspension of most of the activities of our coin department. This does not mean that we will not remain to be interested in coins. We shall continue to handle both American and Foreign gold coins and scarce or rare pieces (over $25.00 value) in all metals. We shall also be interested in purchasing collections of all sorts. Especially we are in the market for paper money, particularly $1.00 and $2.00 National Bank notes and bill of all sorts issued in New York state.

For several years past we have been specializing in the purchase and sale of bank and insurance stocks and other unlisted securities. It is the development of this branch of our business which necessitates the changes which have been described above.

In this, the last issue of the Coin Bulletin we want to extend an invitation to our friends to visit us in our new home at 42 Stone St. We also want to thank our friends for their co-operation, encouragement and assistance in the past.

Numismatic Notes

The daily papers have had considerable space of late devoted to numismatic news, especially in relation to the finding of old coins. The following paragraphs are some of those which have been noted and though none of the discoveries have been very important the attention given them in the press is illustrative of the fascination old coins have even for the lay man.

Silver money coined by the Pope is no novelty to Ernest F. Schmitt, an amateur coin collector of Savannah. While the present Pope has been empowered to coin money in the name of the new Papal state that Mussolini has consented to have created, Mr. Schmitt has a silver lira coined during the administration of Pope Pius IX. in 1868.

The coin is of silver with milled edges and is about the size of an American quarter. It was passing as a quarter in southeast Alabama eight or ten years ago when it came into the hands of a passenger conductor on a railroad who sent it to his brother in Savannah. Mr. Schmitt bought it from the latter. On one side of the coin is a profile of the Pope with these words surrounding it: "Pius IX. Pon M. A. XXIII." On the reverse side are the words: "Stato Pontificio 1 lira 1868." The lira is worth nominally about 20 cents in United States money.

Mrs. John Moore of East Bethany, N. Y. has unearthed a "piece of eight," commonly called a Spanish dollar. The old coin was caked with hard mud and after being cleaned proved to be in good condition. The relic was coined in the eighteenth century, and years ago these coins were in circulation in many parts of the world. Many of them were brought to this country by American sailors.

This Spanish dollar was coined during the reign of Charles III. of Spain, who reigned from 1759-1788. Like other Spanish dollars, they are referred to in the old stories of the sea and of pirates as "pieces of eight."

ROCHESTER.—A Roman coin struck at about the time of Christ has been found in an Indian cave in the Cayuga Lake region, according to an announcement made by Dr. Arthur G. Parker, director of the Rochester, N. Y. Municipal Museum.

The archaeological expedition which made the find is excavating in the Cayuga Lake region under the direction of the Rochester Museum. Explanation of the finding of the coin as given by Dr. Parker is that some missionary gave it to an Indian who treasured it till his death and had it buried with him.

Another extensive project of restoration work is under way at Fort Ticonderoga, N. Y. this year, on the north demi-lune, which is being financed by Major Howland Pell of New York as a memorial for his son, H. Gallatin Pell, who served in the navy in the World War.

As in other years, when other sections of the demi-lune have been restored by the owner, Stephen H. P. Pell, many valuable historical relics are being uncovered in course of the necessary excavations.

Among the rare, recent finds is a Spanish coin design button mould of the eighteenth century. It is a white metal mould or matrix, designed for the fabrication of Spanish coin design buttons, which cast in lead or pewter.

were very popular in the latter half of the eighteenth century, especially with the camp followers of the French and Indian War and the War of the American Revolution. The mould found was made directly from silver coins of the date 1756.

The coins were either pressed into the soft white metal, or melted metal was poured over two coins, placed upon a hard flat surface.

Buttons, made from similar moulds, have been found at Fort Ticonderoga, and at the 1758 camp site at Lake George, and similar buttons bearing the Louis XVI. coin design, have been found at the site of the Revolutionary War camp at New Windsor, in Orange County, and several sets of bronze sleeve link buttons, dated in the 1770s, and bearing the Spanish coin design have been recovered from the site of the British camp on Manhattan Island.

The Spanish silver coins, which circulated in the colonies in the eighteenth century were in use in the United States until long into the nineteenth century and were colonial in character. They were stamped in the Mexico mint, and were referred to as the "pillar coins," as they bore, on one side, two columns representing the "Pillars of Hercules"—the promontories situated on either side of the strait of Gibraltar. These two rocks, Calpi (now Gibraltar) and Abyla (Ceuta) thought by ancients to be the supports of the western boundary of the world, and to have been set up by Hercules, were figuratively, the ultimate limit.
